German Engineer has Patent for Steam Driven Piano

As her interest in engineering was largely a hobby she did not expect it would lead to such a profitable result as the sale of her patent for a steam driven piano.

The piano is a simple affair, and is made of wood, but it is so constructed that it can be run by steam or electricity. It is a very quiet instrument, and is well adapted for use in homes where there are children.

The piano is now being sold at a price of $100.00 per set, and is expected to sell well.

For more information, apply to the inventor, Mrs. J. C. Collier, 1000 N. 1st St., Chicago, Ill.

Alberta Grain Growers

Read This Message

It is of vital importance that a strong co-operative elevator system should flourish in Alberta. It is desirable that such an elevator system should be under the control of Alberta grain farmers—who are actually following the occupation of farming.

The Alberta Pool Elevator system is the only organization in Alberta that meets these requirements.

All country elevators of the Pool system are operated under public license and as such are in a position to handle the grain of any grower.

Alberta Pool Elevators are on a sound financial basis; are efficiently managed and can give unexcelled service to the grain growers of this province. Alberta Pool agents are carefully selected and have strict instructions to give fair treatment, including proper weights and correct grades, at all times.

Alberta Pool Elevators operate on the co-operative principle of "Each for all and all for each"—a principle which will tend to bring a measure of economic and social justice, peace and prosperity throughout the world.

COMFORT At Low Cost

During the mild sunny days it is not hard to keep your home warm. Any cheap fuel will do. KEKO WEATHER is the Best Fuel of Coal, and NEWCASTLE stands that Test. It is the amount of heat that you receive per dollar that counts, not the price per ton. Your dollar buys lots of heat units when spent on NEWCASTLE COAL.

Do YOU Read the Advertisements? You'll find them willing and able to serve in the business of buying!

The clever woman goes for help to the advertisements in her local newspaper. There finds a directory of buying and selling. She learns about the offerings of merchants and businesspeople. It's a big job to spend money wisely and well. And it requires careful business methods to get the best possible returns from each and every dollar that leaves the family purse.

The community picnic held at the lake last Wednesday turned out a great success. A large crowd attended and all games were played in record time. The picnic was a success. The latter being the winners. Despite the day it did not rain. The dance at night was well attended. Some were supplied by Art Pines and Crawford's orchestra. The St. Michael's Church has been holding up at St. Louis Lake for the past week. Miss Winifred Bishop of the sewing staff at the mental hospital at Poncha, spent a couple of days at her home last week.

WHAT GOES ON IN EVERY HOME

Watch in your home how the Stettler Independent—or any other good newspaper—is read. Possibly the weather for the day or the tomorrow is a first matter of interest; and perhaps the main headlines on the front pages are scanned; but it is a pretty safe thing to say that women readers will turn very early to the advertisements of local firms which advertise fashion items, food items, and other offerings related intimately to current needs and desires.

Every woman knows what she wants—not perhaps in the precise form or color, or variety of manner, but certainly in the main matters of her desire or need. This applies to clothes, hats, shoes, food items, beauty preparations and many items pertaining to home furnishing. And so women are eternally on the watch for information—and temptation! They are swiftly perceptive of the advertisements which present and propose the things of their desire or need. And obviously it is those retailers who advertise to them who stand the best chance of their custom.

It is the same in the case of men. Few men buy impulsively. When they leave home each day for their place of employment, it is not just to get rid of their money. What they buy is, mainly, something whose purchase has been planned—clothes or other forms of apparel, hardware items, motorizing sundries, shaving and other bathroom needs, and so on. Men, like women, have been reading advertisements in line with their ripening desires and intentions, and of course they go in large numbers to those retailers who have been informing them and soliciting their custom.

All of us, instinctively, go where the light is, not where the darkness is. Advertisements are light, and so they attract the buyers to those stores they illumine.

The way to get business is to ask for it. Can the truth of this statement be successfully disputed? And here is another equally true statement: The public buys from those who invite its custom.

TAKING YOUR DOLLARS TO MARKET

Every year your family, and every family of your acquaintance, spends about 70 per cent. of its income just for living, exclusive of rent—so economic experts tell us. Think what this means—seven dollars out of every ten invested in food, clothing, household utilities and all the multitude of things that keep a family both comfortable and contented.

The clever woman goes for help to the advertisements in her local newspaper. There finds a directory of buying and selling. She learns about the offerings of merchants and business people. She compares values. She takes this opportunity of judging and selecting almost everything she needs to feed, clothe, amuse and bring up the family.

Do YOU Read the Advertisements? You'll find them willing and able to serve in the business of buying!

Advertisements are guardians of your pocketbook. Read them over carefully, then use them accordingly.

We are fully equipped mechanically and otherwise to give your printing needs every attention. Make it a point to consult us on all your printing. Call in and see us or phone 38, Stettler.

I met a young farmer in a lonely western vale
 A man of fertile faith that was his own
 Who when I told him of halitosis
 He seemed to smile
 As sources fail in weight,
 And he said to me, "Leave countenances
 To the gods
 And when I spoke of fish I caught
 In certain foreign rivers,
 That measured twenty-seven feet
 From tail to gills,
 He said, "I will give you a

And when I spoke of having met him in eighteen sixty-three,
Whose mouth was large enough to fit three large potatoes in,
whereon he visited Jim Markham
and the boys, and I said to him He'd seen him hold his apples in his mouth in sixty-five
It seemed to make no odds to him
how I'd exaggerate
He said he was so sure of me,
he thought that I'd narrate,
How with an ass jawbone that he might fashion any thing he pleased to come in to see what he would say He listened most intently with an ever-broadening smile.
As though he were a person
who had never seen me
And when I'd done he used to say, "I don't know if you
be know the tale was true.
For Sampson's self had told it me."

At the end of the 10th inning the score stood 4 to 3 in Butler's favor, but suddenly Lacombe's battery came to life and in their half of the 10th threw three runs into the place.

When the situation has been reversed, said John Maclean was in the U.S. Atlantic at Quebec City last month. U.S. President Truman, said Maclean, was a realist for the U.S. in a campaign. At Quebec City, U.S. Maclean had pointed out that the little which had happened in the U.S. was also a reversal. Pan was her husband, said Maclean, and she was a member of the U.S. Congress. MAN'S FOOD IS ANOTHER MAN'S POISON

When those early events transpired, playwright, Beaumont Newhall, whom we still read frequently arrive on stage said in the third act of "Love is that."

Another man's poison, anyone? Another man's meat or drink, doubtless helped to popularize eating and to bring it down to date.

The saying "One man's meat is another man's poison" as popular today, had its origin with the Roman poet, Lucretius, living from 98 to 54 B C who said in his "De Rerum Natura":

"What is food to one man may be death poison to others."

We, certainly not! said a woman to a man who had knuckled at the door and begged for food. — Do any of you or I'll eat his turkey.

There is a thought about the price of food that the consumer should not overlook. The price of food is not only a matter of the cost of the food itself, but also a matter of the cost of the transportation of the food from the farm to the city.
